About Us

Asman Otomotiv was established in 2000 for the production of fasteners. It added axle and spring connection parts to its product range in order to both expand its product range and offer more options to its customers. The raw materials used in production are purchased from well-known and reputable companies. We are becoming a strong company in the sector by increasing production capacity and investing in human resources. Our facilities are updated taking into account market requirements. We aim to be the best manufacturer and supplier of all kinds of fasteners and bolts and spring fittings in local and international markets, and offer competitive prices and quality parts on time.
