About Us

Since our establishment, we have taken an important place in the animal health and feed additives sector with our high product quality and production technology, our innovative products, our vision, our entrepreneurial structure, and our financial strength. We have become an important supplier for our local and international customers with our high quality feed additives and solution-oriented products. We work with companies that produce high-end raw materials to produce high-quality premixes. Our focus is; To contribute positively to animal health and production under our own brand and to create a permanent value for the livestock sector with our product portfolio. From the first day of our establishment, we have made an effort to adopt the principle of usefully recommended. Seeing that we have achieved this at the point we
