About Us

Cenk and Murat Brothers started in the elevator industry as apprentices in 1989 and founded Busra Asansor Ltd. in 1990. In 1991, they certified the quality of their work with a TSE certificate. Over the years, they successfully completed hundreds of elevator projects, with most of them still operating without needing any revisions. In 2001, following a notable political event, Busra Asansor decided to stop elevator installation and contracting work by 2004. With their accumulated experience, they shifted to manufacturing and, in 2007, began producing folding doors with a patented W-type model.
