

Hakkımızda

In today's production life, which is globalized and there are hundreds of brands and models of a product, companies spend millions of dollars only on launch activities to differentiate themselves. Being aware of how important and delicate balance it is to establish a healthy communication with the consumer, Plasmarket is working hard to differentiate itself and be more preferable in the sector. Plasmarket, which has always kept the horizon high since the first day it was founded as a family company in 1988, has acted according to the conditions of the information and technology age with its expert staff at every level of the company.
