About Us

Sumak Metal is a leading company operating in the metal processing and industrial manufacturing sector. Since its establishment, the company has adhered to high-quality standards in CNC laser cutting, press brake bending, welding, and robotic production technologies, offering reliable and innovative solutions to its customers. In our modern production facilities, we manufacture semi-finished metal parts, industrial constructions, and custom-designed products for both domestic and international markets. With our technological infrastructure, professional engineering team, and quality-focused production approach, we serve a wide range of industries, including automotive, defense, agriculture, food, energy, and machinery manufacturing. Precision,
